

CARLISLE'S BODY ARRIVES TO-DAY

Funeral of Kentucky Statesman Set for To-morrow.

SERVICES AT ST THOMAS'

Former Associates of ex-Secretary of Treasury Will Be Pallbearers. Body to Rest in Receiving Vault Until October, When It Will Be Taken to Old Home.

Constable Plum tipped the scales at 300 yesterday and a tent an awn's length is making him a new uniform. The fellow that don't get skinned nowadays is disappointed.

TRIBUTE TO CARLISLE.

When the late John G. Carlisle was seriously ill in Washington last winter, Senator Bailey, of Texas, was discussing the great statesman.

"I consider Mr. Carlisle," said he, "perhaps the most intellectual man of his age."
"I do not confine this opinion to one country, but to the world."
"I may add that, if you would destroy every law book in existence, John G. Carlisle would be able to replace them."

The body of John G. Carlisle, former Secretary of the Treasury, will reach Washington this afternoon from New York. Funeral services will be held in St. Thomas' Church at 2 o'clock Wednesday.

The body will be placed in the receiving vault in Rock Creek Cemetery, where it will rest until October. At that time the bodies of the ex-Treasurer and of Mrs. Carlisle will be taken to Covington, Ky., for burial in the family plot, where are interred Mr. Carlisle's eight children. The pallbearers have not been selected as yet. The arrangements for the funeral are in the hands of former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis, who is in New York. Mr. Curtis, former Assistant Secretary Hamlin, W. J. Kehoe, and H. W. Van Selden will be four of the pallbearers.

Kehoe Is Executor.
Mr. Van Selden was with Mrs. Carlisle during the latter part of his official career. Mr. Kehoe is named as executor in Mr. Carlisle's will. The dead Kentucky statesman leaves little besides his residence in this city and a small place in Connecticut.

Mrs. W. K. Carlisle, the daughter-in-law of Mr. Carlisle, arrived in Washington yesterday and received many sympathetic callers at the Carlisle residence in K street northwest. She was at Mr. Carlisle's death bed, and says he was in perfect possession of his mental faculties to the last.

Half an hour before he died, the telephone bell rang, and Mr. Carlisle inquired who had "called up."

When told, he replied: "Well, I can't see any one"—his last words.

CARLISLE WAS TENDERED HEAD OF SUPREME COURT.

It is well known here that Mr. Carlisle could have become Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, to succeed Chief Justice Waite, had he cared to accept the position. At the time Mr. Carlisle was Speaker of the House. For him there was not a cloud on the political horizon, and he and his friends looked forward to his becoming the next President. George F. Parker, in his "Recollections of Grover Cleveland," a work approved by the late President, tells the story briefly.

Quoting Mr. Cleveland, a quotation that the late President frequently affirmed, Mr. Parker says:
"When I had to assume the responsibility of appointing a Chief Justice of the United States, in succession to Morrison R. Waite, my first impulse, after the post had been declined by John G. Carlisle, then Speaker of the House, was to tender the office to James C. Carter, or some other eminent advocate or leader of the bar, or to Mr. Phelps, then our Minister to the Court of St. James." Mr. Cleveland then proceeds to discuss the events leading up to his selection of Chief Justice Fuller.

Mr. Carlisle was the first man in Mr. Cleveland's mind for a Cabinet position. In discussing the matter before his inauguration, he said:
"I believe that this is not only the best selection that could be made for this office at such a vital time, but in this one instance I am willing to look ahead. You know me well enough to know that I care nothing for the perpetuation of personal power, and do not often think of it; but out party has just come back with a striking victory, as a result of which it ought to maintain its hold for many years to come. It cannot do this if it enters upon its new duties in a haphazard sort of way."

"So, in thinking the matter over, I have reached the conclusion that it would be a wonderful thing if we could look forward to Mr. Carlisle as successor to the Presidency in the term to follow mine. I realize how dangerous this is, and that both history and precedent are against its success, but as I look at it now it seems to be a thing that ought to be kept in mind."

HOLT BOY RECOVERS

Pulls Through After Fall of Forty Feet.

HIS INJURIES ARE SERIOUS

Attending Physician Attributes Convalescence to Young Man's Grit and Determination Not to Die—He Thinks It Nearly a Miracle—Passing Automobile Friend in Need.

Raymond Holt, fifteen years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holt, Jr., of 2060 Wisconsin avenue, who was seriously injured by falling from the top of a building several weeks ago, has won his fight for life.

With hope practically gone, the lad lay abed for several weeks, putting up a determined struggle against death. His skull was badly lacerated, his arm broken, and he sustained severe contusions by the accident. Concussion of the brain developed and little hope was held out for his recovery.

Leaves the Hospital.

At his own request the lad was removed from the hospital to his home a short time after the accident. There he was under constant attention from Dr. M. J. Ready. The boy was determined not to die, and it is believed that it was due to his fortitude and grit that he is now alive.

A few days ago he expressed the wish to be out of doors, so well had he progressed. The physicians were finally won over, and the lad now takes daily walks. His arm is still carried in a sling, but otherwise all traces of his accident have disappeared.

In speaking of the case, Dr. Ready said last night: "The boy's recovery is wonderful. He was in terrible shape when he was brought to his home, and it was, in a great measure, his own determined fight that pulled him through. I expect the boy will be as well as ever in a short time."

Falls Forty Feet.

Young Holt was working on the eaves of a building when he missed his footing and fell forty feet to the pavement. He picked himself up after a time and started to walk to the Providence Hospital.

Blood was streaming from his head, and he fell to the sidewalk before he had gone far. A passing automobile was called to carry him to the hospital.

CANINES IN FAVOR.

Taxpayers Flock Around the Dog Tag Window.

Payments of water rent taxes kept two cashiers busy all day yesterday at the tax collector's office. Clerks say it was an unusually heavy day.

That people still have an affection for their canines was also made manifest by the long line of people—men and women, white and black—that formed before the dog tag window. Yesterday being the last day, those who had dogs grew tender-hearted as they thought of "research work," "50 cents a head," and "the chloroform route," hence the long line of eager dog tag payers that thronged the District Building till a late hour yesterday afternoon.

TWENTY-FOUR HAVE RABIES.

Pasture Institute Receiving Additional Patients Every Day.

"Dog days" are far from being over, according to Dr. John F. Anderson, director of the Pasture Institute of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service. There are now twenty-four patients—one-third of them children, receiving daily treatment for rabies at the institute. In every case it has been determined that the patient is suffering from rabies. Almost every day adds one or two patients to the growing list.

Sneak Thief Busy.

Mrs. H. Julia P. Monks reported to the police yesterday that her residence, 922 Tenth street northwest, was entered some time during the day by a sneak thief, who stole a handbag containing about $9 in cash. No arrest has been made.

Artillery Soldier Punished.

PROTEST AGAINST TEXAS LYNCHING

Colored Ministers Condemn Work of White Mob.

Action was taken yesterday at the monthly meeting of the colored Baptist ministers of Washington and vicinity, at Walker Memorial Church, on the lynching of negroes last Saturday in Anderson County, Tex.

The attack upon the negroes in Texas by an armed mob was discussed by the local clergymen for some time, and it was the sense of the meeting that a protest against the shooting of the negroes should be given to the press of the city and the country, that a message should be sent to the governor of Texas, and one to Sheriff Black, of Anderson County, through whose report the facts were made known to the outside world.

Ministers Much Moved.

The colored ministers of the District were much moved yesterday in talking about the work of the mob of white men near Palestine, Tex. Many of the pastors expressed the opinion that this republic is doomed to speedy destruction unless good citizens of every race are quickly brought forth who will insist that mobs, lynchings, and murders shall be suppressed with an iron hand, and that justice and protection shall be insured to every inhabitant, whatever his color or condition. While denouncing and condemning the outrages committed against innocent and unarmed negroes in Texas last Saturday, all present expressed the belief that the white Christians of America are opposed to these crimes. They decided that if an appeal is made to the daily and religious press and to the white ministers of the Gospel and other law-abiding citizens, they would join the colored people in a vigorous crusade against lawlessness and murder by whomsoever committed.

Name a Committee.

The meeting appointed Rev. J. Anderson Taylor, J. Milton Waldron, W. J. Howard, S. G. Lamkins, J. H. Randolph, W. D. Jarvis, and J. I. Loving a committee to send a statement to the press and telegrams to the governor of Texas and to Sheriff Black, as follows:

To the Governor of Texas:
The 100 colored Baptist ministers of Washington, D. C., stand against the wholesale murder of innocent and unarmed men, which has disgraced Texas and exposed her to the contempt of the civilized world, and is sure to bring upon her the condemnation of a just God. We have faith in your sense of justice and loyalty to duty, and believe you will do everything in your power to have the murderers of these innocent men apprehended and punished by trial, and pray that God may bless you in this patriotic service.

To Sheriff Black:

The 100 colored Baptist ministers of Washington, D. C., commend the courage shown by you in making public the facts of the awful crimes committed by the white people in your county in murdering twenty innocent and unarmed negroes. We believe you will do your duty in bringing these murderers to trial, and pray that God may bless you in this patriotic service.

Joseph Barringer, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. D. B. Barringer, of 1320 L street northwest, is reported to have been bitten on the left leg by a dog yesterday afternoon at Fourteenth and L streets northwest. The child was treated by the family physician, who says the injury is slight.

HANGS SELF IN PARK

Body of Virginia Man Found Near Speedway.

NECKTIE USED FOR NOOSE

Weight of Suicide Too Much for Improvised Rope, Which Breaks, Throwing Corpse to the Ground, Where It Attracts No Attention from Passersby During the Day.

Crouched in a sleeping posture, the body of William J. Thorpe, of Manassas, Va., was found yesterday morning in Potomac Park, beneath a tree from which he had hanged himself with his necktie.

Discouragement and shame over arrest is believed to have caused the deed. Thorpe had been arrested and fined in the Municipal Court Saturday morning.

The suicide had used an ordinary four-in-hand tie to form a noose. The weight of his body was too great for the tie, which broke after the man had strangled to death.

The body was thrown to the ground in such a position that hundreds of passersby thought the man was sleeping. His arms and head were thrown forward on his knees.

Passengers on the Mount Vernon car line, which passes near by, had noticed the man, but the pose was so natural that it attracted only casual attention. It was not until E. L. J. Disner, a Baltimorean, shook the body that the man was found to be dead.

The closely knotted tie about the neck and the end fluttering from the limb above told the story.

Chose Low Limb.

The limb selected indicated that the suicide must have had an agonizing death. It is only six feet above ground, and the man after adjusting the noose had evidently slowly plunged his whole weight on the string.

The condition of the body would indicate that the act was committed either Sunday or Saturday. The body was at the morgue ten hours before it was identified. Inspector Massey, of the Prisoners' Aid Society, made the identification. He said Thorpe had recently been employed at St. Elizabeth's Insane Asylum, but finishing his work several days ago had taken to drinking, winding up in the Police Court.

Johnson set in place the corner stone of the new Presbyterian church at Chevy Chase Circle at 7:35 o'clock last night. Several hundred parishioners and friends participated in the ceremonies.

Rev. Mr. Johnson was assisted in the services by officers of the church. Much enthusiasm was shown by the members over the prospect of the handsome new house of worship which will be ready for dedication in October.
